Delightfully simple to use, Amicus Accounting 2010 can be used as a standalone tool or combined with Amicus Attorney 2010 to integrate your front and back offices with one all-inclusive practice management solution.

Integrated with Amicus Attorney

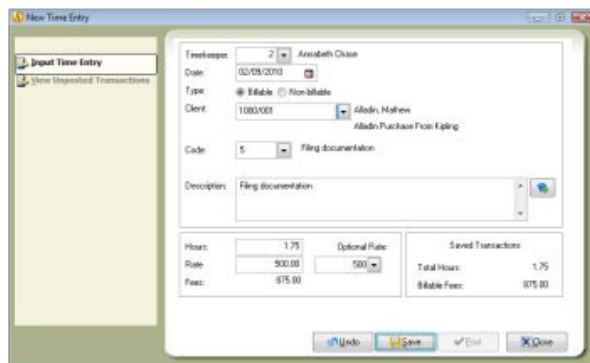

With Amicus Accounting, a simple, intuitive and standalone legal accounting package, Amicus users can increase their firm's efficiency by partnering Amicus Accounting with Amicus Attorney. This provides a complete front office - back office practice management solution.

Record Your Time

Processing time can be a time-consuming process! In Amicus Accounting, all time-related activities can be performed from the Time Module, including hourly or flat-fee time entry, billable and non-billable entries. You can quickly edit unbilled time entries (or write-off unbilled time entries) and transfer time across clients and matters.

Of course you could also see all posted entries sent over from Amicus Attorney.

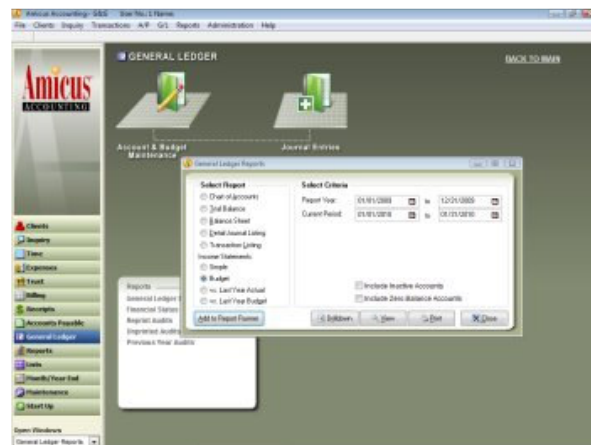

Keep track of your Expenses

General Ledger - Complete Accounting Capability

A comprehensive G/L with a fully reportable audit trail is included in the package. Automatically post G/L entries for day-to-day accounting! This is the place for account and budget maintenance. You can even view bank balances, as per the system's records.

This is a complete accounting software package - no need to link to anything else. Your bookkeeper will thank you.

Total Trust Accounting

Trust accounting is one of the elements that differentiates legal accounting from general business accounting. Amicus Accounting's extensive Trust Accounting Module includes recording receipts, enter and editing trust checks, plus the ability to transfer trust funds to pay A/R invoices. Transfers can come from regular or interest-bearing trust accounts.

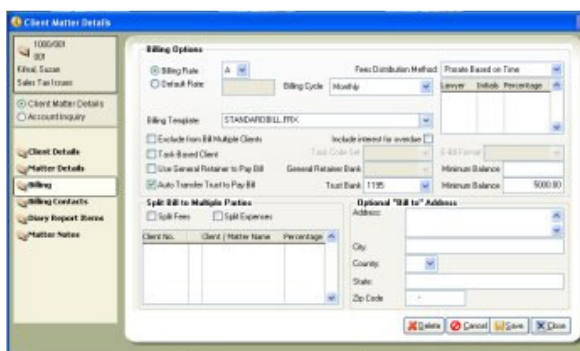

Robust Reporting

Amicus Accounting includes more than 50 reports, including Billing Reports, Management Reports, Financial Reports and Income Statements.

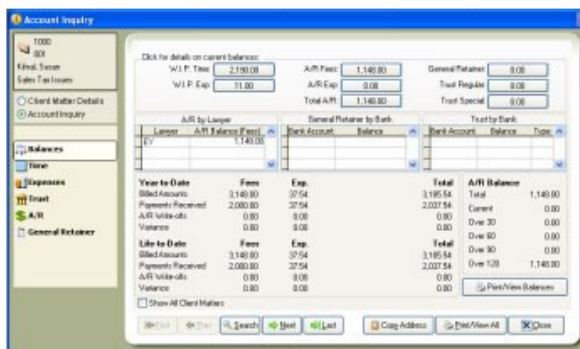

Client Matter Details & Account Inquiries

Clients are the heart of your business and the beginning of any billing process. The detailed Clients Module lets you create and update everything related to client matter details in one easy-to-navigate module. This includes the ability to track transaction by client and matter! And as an additional security feature, you can control access to the screens people view, so if you don't want anyone to change your Client Matter information, you can lock everyone out.

The Inquiry Module provides secure, view-only access to key accounting information, including client matter files, general ledger and vendors data. Since it's "view only," nothing here can be edited or manipulated.

The Client Matter Details screen and the Account Inquiry screen show a wealth of critical information. With a click of the mouse, you can see all the client data and account information in one central location! In addition, you can access time, expense, trust and A/R details with drilldown.
